

a lifetime supply of avocado toast

a credit card with a unicorn on it

Bitcoin and Teddy Bear

a budget that's more of a wish list

paying for dinner with coins found in your pocket

financial advice from a fortune cookie

investing in a haunted house

a 0% interest rate on a loan from a genie

winning the lottery
and losing the ticket

getting a loan from the Bank of Mom and Dad

a shoebox
full of receipts

a Real Estate Loan on a cardboard box

bargain-hunting in the lost and found a stock market rollercoaster

a Ponzi scheme with a great marketing team

*A Ponzi scheme is a fraudulent investment scam that promises high returns to early investors, which are paid using the capital of new investors, rather than legitimate profits, leading to an inevitable collapse when there are not enough new investors to sustain the payouts.

a credit score lower than a limbo champion a tax refund spent on novelty socks

a retirement plan with a winning lottery ticket as the centerpiece

a financial statement written in crayon

a rainy day fund
that's underwater

a get-rich-quick scheme involving cryptocurrency and farm animals

a savings account with spiderwebs

a credit card bill as long as a novel

budget that hemorrhages money uncontrollably.

a stock market crash
on my birthday

a debt collector
as my pen pal

a financial seminar with a clown as the keynote speaker

a financial windfall spent on inflatable furniture

a credit card with a permanent
'declined' status

a loan from the Tooth Fairy

a tax audit during a zombie apocalypse

a retirement plan that's just a dream journal

a checkbook filled with IOUs

a money saving pig-bank with no bottom

a budget spreadsheet with more tabs than my browser

a stock portfolio consisting solely of Monopoly money

a financial strategy relying on the guidance of a fairy godmother

a coupon collection as thick as a phonebook

a budget that's more holes than cheese

a credit score that becomes a topic of humor during social gatherings

a stock market surge during a power outage a debt repayment plan involving a treasure map

a financial crisis caused by too many impulse shopping

a tax return filed with finger paintings

a retirement plan
relying on winning the lottery twice

a financial advisor who communicates exclusively in emojis a checkbook that speaks only in riddles

a piggy bank that moonlights
as a snack jar

a budget with a huge special section for discretionary spending

a stock market crash
caused by a cat walking on a keyboard

collectible action figures of famous economists

crypto coins named after animals

a pyramid scheme that promised lots of money

buying stock in a company I've never heard of a 'get rich quick'

seminar

a retirement plan
that involves
winning the lottery

a budget that includes a line item for
'impulse buys'

negotiating my rent using interpretive dance

a jar labeled
'Emergency Fund'
with only pennies inside

an investment portfolio that's 90% a company for heating machines in the desert

a credit score so low it's a world record

financial advice from the Oracle

a side gig as a professional dog walker

a student loan that will outlive me

a 30-year mortgage on a treehouse

a retirement plan
based on winning the lottery

an ATM that gives Monopoly money

paying for groceries with a bag of small coins

a financial plan that involves asking Grandma for help

WALL-ET